The aim of this final assignment is to find out how good circulation and zoning are according to the standardization of circulation and zoning in the market, so that in the end the author can find out what problems occur in the main vegetable and fruit market.

The general problem that occurs in vegetables and fruit is related to circulation and zoning, namely, irregular zoning in the Cikema market which is caused by the owner or user of the stall used as a trading location, there are no written or verbal regulations from the head of market coordination. so that owners or so-called people who use stalls or locations to sell are free to choose the location they will use for shopping. This has an impact on zoning and circulation which is created irregularly, which makes it difficult for visitors or buyers or even difficult to find or find the goods they want because they have to go around the traders one by one.

The conclusion of the problem of zoning and irregular circulation is to make written or verbal regulations that the stalls in the main market have or have regulations regarding the allocation of land to be used as trading land and also in the zoning, groups are created such as vegetable traders are grouped together with traders. other traders.
