

ABSTRACT

Aisyah Jannah Soraya, A Psychoanalysis of the Character Alex Volkov in the Novel Twisted Love. A Scientific Writing. English Department. Faculty of Letters and Cultures. Gunadarma University. Jakarta. 2024.

Abstract

This research analyzes the psychoanalysis of Alex's character in the novel Twisted Love by Ana Huang using Sigmund Freud's theory of Id, Ego, and Superego. This research aims to discover the id, ego, and superego in Alex Volkov's character in the novel Twisted Love. The researcher used the qualitative method. The researcher found 44 data in Alex's character, which consist of 19 data on the id, 12 data on the ego, and 13 data on the superego. The results of the data analysis showed that Alex Volkov's most dominant psychoanalysis used is the Id. The initial cause of Alex's Id appears because he experienced childhood trauma from the murder of his family and is determined to get revenge for them.

Keywords: Psychoanalysis, Id, Ego, Superego, Trauma, Revenge, Twisted Love, Sigmund Freud.